Tèxtils.CAT presents the online training course of the European project CLEANTEX

The program is made up of different thematic blocks focused on promoting the circular economy and eco-design in the sector of advanced textile materials.

Tèxtils.CAT collaborates in the CLEANTEX project, which aims to promote the adoption of circular economy and eco-design to improve the skills of students and workers in the advanced textile materials sector.

It does so through an open access virtual learning platform with 7 modules of 3 units each, where topics such as eco-design, material sustainability, waste management and recycling, circular economy, etc. are covered.
