

Tèxtils.CAT presents the online training course of the European project ADDTEX

The program includes 9 innovative training courses that contribute to improving skills for the green, digital, and smart transition in the textile industry

Tèxtils.CAT leads the ADDTEX project, which aims to update and enhance the knowledge, skills, and competencies of professionals in the textile sector, thereby reducing the gap between their academic training and the needs of a rapidly evolving labor market.

The content of each course is tailored to three main target groups, corresponding to different professional profiles within the textile industry: Technicians and Graduates, Engineers and Professionals, or Managers and Mentors.
